MOTION: Commissioner Joe Mann made a motion to accept minutes as amended.

SECOND: Commissioner Fentress Truxon.

DECISION: Motion passed unanimously.

Agenda Item 3 – Hate Crime Follow Up

Staff Rosa Inchausti introduced Robert Hubbard, Deputy City Attorney to provide the Commission an overview of how the Prosecutor's Office interfaces with the Police Department:

- 1) There are three basic ways in which cases come to the Prosecutor's Office: A Police Officer is aware of the incident and either books the offender in jail or issues a citation to appear in court. The Prosecutor visits the offender in jail or when the offender appears in court according to the citation. If a police officer needs more time to investigate an incident, they will submit a police report to the Prosecutor's Office. The Prosecutor's Office will then investigate the case to see if there is probable cause to charge the offender with a crime.
- 2) Hate crime in and of itself is not a crime. If the police officer believes that the motivation behind the crime was a hate crime, the sentence is aggravated. All police reports are reviewed by the officer's supervisor and that supervisor is the one to make the final decision as to the offender's motivation.
- 3) The Prosecutor's Office also reviews the police report and can determine if the police department made the appropriate charge.

General Discussion of Hate Crimes included:

- One commissioner expressed concern over the possibility of an offender escaping from a hate crime simply because the police officer did not believe that the motivation behind the crime was hate. The commission requested that the Subcommittee for Emerging Issues further investigate the mechanism for prosecuting hate crime offenders and report back to the commission.

Agenda Item 4 – Race Neutral Diversity Supplier Update

No report.

Agenda Item 5 – HRC Strategic Planning Committee Update

Chair Janis Webb requested an update from the HRC Strategic Planning Committee:

- 1) Committee Chair, Commission Gail Paredes-Ewen, reviewed the minutes of the committee meeting and highlighted the proposed mission statement and issue areas. The mission statement reads: To promote mutual acceptance, understanding and respect among all groups of people who live, work, play and visit our city.
- 2) The committee also identified three major issue areas: visibility/marketing, city internal/external accountability and emerging/regional issues. The committee will develop a checklist of program or strategies to create measurable goals at their next meeting. The commission was asked for feedback on the committee's draft strategic plan.

General Discussion of the HRC Strategic Plan included:

- One commissioner expressed concern over HRC's proposed involvement in ensuring that the city of Tempe is held accountable. The commissioner stated that the role of the HRC is an advisory role and the commission should be careful about overstepping that role. Several other commissioners expressed similar feelings. The committee replied that the strategic plan is a work in progress and that the draft is nothing more than a draft. The commission will continue to receive updates and requests for feedback until a final strategic plan is created.
